one of the three passengers who came down from Dawson City via St. Michaels per the steamer National City, making the trip in the fast time of 23 days, gives a good description of the conditions in the Klondike mining

He said: "I left San Francisco on the first trip of the Excelsior this spring, and on arrival at the mines began hunting for a location, finally locating a claim on French gulch. What there is in it, I do not know, as I have not yet done enough work to get down to pay dirt. I did not propose to stay there this winter and work it, as provisions are too scarce in Dawson to take any chances of an existence until spring rolls around and the necessaries of life can be transported into the mines. It is a shame, almost a crime, the manner in which provisions have been taken to the mines. There are whisky, beer and all other kinds of liquor in profusion which have been given transportation room which for humanity's sake should have been filled with the necessaries of life. There are, I should judge, about 6,000 people in and around Dawson City and the mines, and it is safe to say that when I left there was not enough food to last half of them through the winter. How they will fare, time alone will tell. I had plenty of money and ret could not secure what provisions I wanted for the winter, so I concluded that the best thing I could do was to get back to civilization where I could get enough to eat. The lack of provisions will have a tendency to lessen the output of the mines, as miners cannot work without food. From what I have seen I should judge that were the miners supplied with food they would, this winter, take out about 50 tons of gold, but under the present conditions there is no telling how much will be taken out. As to the richness of the country, there is no doubt. A rough estimate, based on what has already been taken out, would place the output of the mines already located at $50,000,000. Some of the claims on Elidorado creek are good for two ounces to on Stevart river, there have been rumors He said: "I left San Francisco on the first trip of the Excelsior this

In regard to the discoveries on "In regard to the discoveries on Stewart river, there have been rumors of rich strikes on that stream, but up to the time I left Dawson no authentic news had been received. A large number of the people at St. Michaels when I left will probably have to stay there this winter, as there is little chance of their getting up the river. In addition to those already there are in administration those already there are those on the North Fork and Humbolt. St. Michaels will be a better place in which to winter than Dawson City, as at the former place are hundreds of tons of provisions which cannot get up

Port Townsend, Wash., Sept. 8 .- The steamer Queen salled for Alaska at a late hour tonight, and notwithstanding the fact that on her return from the morth only four days ago, she brought as disgusted men from Skaguay, she carried 116 bound for the Klondike via Dyea. (Special to The Heraid.)

Boise, Ida., Sept. 8.—The farmers of the great wheat belt in northern Idaho, who have been jubilant over the big grain crops and the rise in price of wheat, are now down-hearted over the prolonged rain, which has already done great damage and threatens to do more.

The Statement special from Moscow way: All agree that three days more of rain will do immense damage. The fall sown wheat in stacks will heat. The damage already done may lower the price or 3 cents. A few days more of rain will make it is cents less. The weather still continues unfavorable to hervesting, and should it continues unfavorable to hervesting.

The contents of the valles, according to his statement, are worth nearly $100,000. One chousand of it is in currency and gold; $5,000 in jewelry, among which are beautiful diamonds; $9,000 in guaranteed notes; and the balance in coupon bonds. He says that when he arrived at his station he handed the valles to one whom he believed to be his servant to carry to his carriage. It was night. When he arrived home he missed the valles and took the aext train to San Luis Potosi. The governor issued a proclamation offering a reward. Seven or eight persons have been arrested in that state who are suspected of being connected with the disappearance of the valles. It is believed by customs officers that the supposed servant was a confederate of some one on the train, because when the value arrived here a man was sliring near it, but discialmed it. It was finally taken from the train by a customs officer to the bargage room. It suddenly disappeared and was found by an officer in the possession of a hackman, who said that It had been given to him by an American to bring to the city. The matter has been referred in the secretary of the treasury by the collector of this district and his answer is expected tomorrow.

BROWN LOSES DR. ANDREWS.

Odessa, Sept. 8.—The crisis in the grain trade in nouthern Russin has been enhanced by the influx of a half store of Hougarian commissioners who are purchasing wheat at any price as which it can be obtained. A majority of the great grain exporters are in a very precarious position and a large number of smaller firms have already collapsed. One hirreforeign export firm alone has lost 3,00,-00 roubles on the fulfillment of contracts made by it in the expectation that there would be a middling crop. With the exception of barley, all the cereais are as light as they are scaut, while the fact that the government has wisely made extraordinary purchases of grain for food reserve as a precaution against familie, has increased the scare. She was a very faltering witness and suffered under the scathing cross-examination to which she was subjected. She was apparently imbued with the idea that she must testify only to those matters which hurt the cause of the defense. Judge Tuthill administered a kindly, but firm, lecture to the trembling girl. From her the defense secured the admission that she was not sure she saw Luetgert and his wife enter the factory, and the defense also forced her to admit that she could not remember anything that happened en another particular night than May 1. It required much time to question the witness so that his testimony could be made clear to the jury. The witness asserted as his opinion that the dissolution of the fleshy pertions of the body could be accomplished in the time and manner alleged by the state, but denied that the condition of the bones would be materially affected. The defense considered that a point was scored in their favor, when the witness asserted that the hair would be the first portion of a body to dissolve in the caustic mixture.

Attorney Vincent will request the jury to recite this bit of testimony with the alleged finding of hair in the vat. The last witness sworn was the son of Watchman Boalk, who testified to having enticed Luetgert to his father's room under pretense of the latter's the bed at the time and the testimony was intended to be merely corroborative of portions of the testimony of the officer who listened to the conversation between Luctgert and his old employer.

A hearing of the case was held before Justice Thompson, and the defendant was bound over to the district court. The class recently tried in Boise is not held to be regular. The lawyers here hold that a district junge has no right to enterinto the facts, which must be depended upon in this case to determine the constitutionality of the anti-gambling law. The case will be carried to the supreme court.

SILVER COINAGE TO BE RESUMED.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 8.-A special to the Times from Washington says: There is just now a large demand upon the treasury department for small coins to assist in the movement of crops. Director of the Mint Preston says that the coinage of subsidiary silver and minor coins will be continued until a sufficient stock has been accumulated to meet the current demand.

The available number of silver dollars in the treasury has been reduced about 8,000,000, and it is probable that an order will be issued next week for colning into silver dollars some of the buildon purchased under the act of 1890. No silver dollars have been coined for some time. Their coinage will be resumed because they are needed to meet the demand arising from the revival of business. The bullion purchased under the act of 1890 cannot be used in the manufacture of subsidiary coins, and must be converted into silver dollars whenever its columne becomes necessary.
